EDITOR'S CORNER

I had such high hopes for 2022. I just knew that COVID was not going to take any part of 2022 from us. I mean my workload has lessened tremendously. So that means that COVID is on the way out, right? RIGHT!?!?!?

Wrong! We're a month into the new year and already it is taking a meeting away from us. Yes, you heard right, we are cancelling our February 2022 meeting. Hopefully this will be the only one we have to cancel this year.

For now, I'm going to take this positively. This just gives you one more month to fill out your nomination form announcing your intent to run for one of our officer vacancies. Why are you laughing? I am being serious! We'd love to have you join us on the board!

Until March, stay warm, happy and healthy.

Dyan

Coin of the Month

www.usmint.gov

American Women Quarters - Maya Angelou

The American Women Quarters Program features coins with reverse designs emblematic of the accomplishments and contributions of trailblazing American women. The ethnically, racially, and geographically diverse group of individuals honored through this program reflects a wide range of accomplishments and fields, including suffrage, civil rights, abolition, government, humanities, science, space, and the arts.

Maya Angelou, featured on the reverse of this first coin in the series, used words to inspire and uplift. A writer, poet, performer, social activist, and teacher, Angelou rose to international prominence as an author after the publication of her groundbreaking autobiography, "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings." Angelou's published works of verse, non-fiction, and fiction include more than 30 bestselling titles. Her remarkable career encompasses dance, theater, journalism, and social activism. The recipient of more than 30 honorary degrees, Angelou read "On the Pulse of Morning" at the 1992 inauguration of President Bill Clinton. Angelou's reading marked the first time an African American woman wrote and presented a poem at a Presidential inauguration. In 2010, President Barack Obama awarded Angelou the Presidential Medal of Freedom, and she was the 2013 recipient of the Literarian Award, an honorary National Book Award for contributions to the literary community.

The reverse depicts Maya Angelou with her arms uplifted. Behind her are a bird in flight and a rising sun, images inspired by her poetry and symbolic of the way she lived.

The obverse depicts a portrait of George Washington originally composed and sculpted by Laura Gardin Fraser to mark George Washington's 200th birthday.
