EDITOR'S CORNER

March has been a comedy of horrors at my house. I am so ready for it to be over! Both of my cars went down. One with timing issues and the other with transmission issues. And to cap it off? The washer decided to stop working. This has been a month of 'what can go wrong will go wrong'! I am ready for April!

Speaking of April, remember that our annual elections will happen in April. So go vote in your local school district, city, county, state elections and then come vote for your 2022 slate of coin club officers! We've got a lot of positions open. So be sure to come voice your opinion on who should lead the club. Remember that your dues must be paid in order to vote.

Until we meet again, stay safe, warm and healthy. We hope to see you at the next meeting. In the meantime, I hope your month has been better than mine!

Coin of the Month

2022 Native American Dollar

The 2022 Native American $1 Coin honors Ely Samuel Parker, a U.S. Army officer, engineer, and tribal diplomat, who served as military secretary to Ulysses S. Grant during the U.S. Civil War. When Robert E. Lee surrendered at Appomattox, Virginia, on the morning of April 9, 1865, Parker rendered the formal surrender documents in his own hand.

Characteristics

The obverse (heads) design retains the central figure “Sacagawea” carrying her infant son, Jean Baptiste.

The reverse (tails) design features Ely Samuel Parker, depicted in Army uniform. A quill pen and book, along with a likeness of his graceful signature, are symbols of his experience as an expert communicator. The inscriptions “TONAWANDA SENECA” and “HA-SA-NO-AN-DA” recognize his tribe and the name given to him at birth.
